He urged the students to work in such a way that they could contribute something new to the field of mathematics. Following that, we had a short note on the application of mathematics in day to day life. The pressure cooker that makes use of the energy equation concept, the pens that make use of Reynolds’s number being some of those applications.

Industrial Visit

St Aloysius College, B.Voc Kaushal Kendra organized an Industrial Visit for the students of Food Processing & Engineering on 17th December 2016 to Pilikula regional Science Park.

On prior consent from the authorities and under the guidance of the Director of DDU Kaushal Kendra Rev Dr Praveen Martis SJ, the visit was structured in order to enhance their practical stimulation of students and to let them have an overview on the activities related to life science.

The students along with two faculty members (Dr Adarsha Gowda, Ms Neena Rodrigues) assembled at the College Campus at 9.00 a.m.

The journey began at 9.30 a.m. via College bus and reached the Pilikula regional science centre at 10.00 a.m. The centre has three main sectors namely Biodiversity, Fun Science and Frontier of Technology.

At the very beginning we visited the department of Biodiversity. As the name suggests the department was equipped with several models depicting the relationship between living creatures and its surroundings. Some of the models exhibited were as follows:

- Bioluminescence
- Biodegradation
- Biological hotspot
- Food Chain
- DNA barcoding
- Nutrient Cycles

As we moved on to the next section called 'Fun Science', we observed numerous experimental illustrations pertaining to physics. Some of them being Color shadow, Fun mirror, Infinity well, Air Cannon etc.

Further we went through the department of technology named 'Frontiers of Technology' where we acquired knowledge on some of the recent advances in the world of technology like Barcode reader, Bengaluru metro rail system, Medical imaging, Rockets, Satellites and so on. Ultimately we set foot in to watch 3D movie related to human defense system. After exploring the science we decided to take a tour to the biological park of Pilikula which has the major focus on the wildlife species of Western Ghats. This park is named as Dr Shivaram Karanth Biological Park. Different species of animals were displayed. To name a few of them are white Peafowl, Malabar Giant Squirrel, Jungle cat, Ruddy Mongoose, Flying Squirrel, Leopard cat, Tiger, Bear, various species of snake etc.

However, we not just enjoyed watching the animals and birds but also treated ourselves with refreshments. Finally we left the premises at 1.30 p.m. It was an informative, interesting and successful visit. As the students of the life science we got an insight on the functioning of human body, its interactions with surroundings and so on.

We expressed our gratitude to the Principal, Director for their constant support and also to all the teaching staff for their unfailing contributions.

Celebrate! 'tis a great gift

Celebrate? What? , Yes celebrate life, for every person is a gift of God to one another. Above all we celebrate the gift of our Lord Jesus Christ to humankind by The Father, and that is Christmas.

Yes we the students of Matrix association celebrated Christmas on 16th of December with the specially gifted children at St. Agnes special school at Bendore. It was the joy of every student to share their Christmas joy with those children for about an hour in the morning from 10 to 11 am. Starting with prayer song, entertaining them through creative math, dance and Christmas play along with the carols we not only gave joy to them rather we received doubly the joy and peace. It was indeed a happy moment in our lives to share Christ with all whom we met on that day.

We also shared our Christmas joy with the “Sashay” old age home inmates at Kankanady, by sharing our might in the form of coconuts, rice, sugar, soap, oil and other needy things. It was our joy to share our little things and our love, with the 21 inmates who were need of love and merciful touch.

On 22nd we the students along with our lecturers celebrated Christmas as one family in the department of Mathematics. God chose a family to be the ‘locus’ of incarnation, His greatest encounter with humanity. Christmas is therefore about the birth of a family, as much as it is about the birth of Jesus. And therefore we the students of Matrix association as one family celebrated Christmas, by conducting a short quiz on the birth of Jesus, creative games highlighting Crib, for Lecturers and with singing carols and sharing Christmas cake. Thus we celebrated the joy of Christmas in the oneness of the family of Math. We then dispersed by picking the names of our Christmas friends keeping them in our prayers in secret until we meet again at the dawn of a new year 2017.

May Christmas bring abundant blessings on all people of good will.

"MEN AND WOMEN FOR OTHERS"

Heart-warming - Students help lady on train, earn husband's gratitude

Sometimes, little deeds of kindness can go a long way in helping somebody. While most of us bemoan the fading away of humanity and values in today's world, here are three young men who, with their noble act, have set an example for all to follow.

Royal Pais, Lincoln Pinto and Stephen Lopes, students of second BCom in St Aloysius College here, came to the rescue of a lady who was travelling alone with her infant and inadvertently entered the wrong train coach. The lady's husband, in an act of equal large-heartedness, has sent an email to the college profusely thanking the three youngsters.

Here's what happened. On November 2, the lady, wife of Major Pramod S Dixit, was travelling from Mangaluru Junction to Bengaluru by Bengaluru Express when she mistakenly got into a wrong coach which was about nine coaches away from the correct one.

"She was travelling with heavy baggage and (our) one-and-half-year-old daughter. She was struggling with the luggage with her daughter in her arms. It was an impossible task of moving through a running train to traverse through eight coaches with an infant by the arm and heavy luggage," said Major Dixit.

"At this point, about halfway through this desperate situation, she happened to cross a compartment that was occupied by some students. One boy readily offered to help her move the heavy baggage till her seat. On reaching the seat, she requested them to help her with more luggage which she had left behind in the old coach. The boys readily agreed to assist. They then helped her move a very heavy bag all the way through eight coaches," he explained.

This heart-warming act was much appreciated by Major Pramod S Dixit in his mail to Fr Swebert D'Silva, principal of St Aloysius College, on Sunday December 4.

"On her enquiry if she could do anything for them, they cheerfully declined any return favours and proudly declared that they were 'students of St Aloysius'," he said.

Expressing profuse gratitude, Major Dixit told the principal, "Three students of your college saved my wife from a lot of trouble and deserve a hearty thanks on our behalf. It is my kind request if the students be identified and our gratitude be conveyed to them. In the days when morality and social etiquettes are on a down side roll, such selfless acts by young people is a silver lining. It is indeed doubtless that the grooming by their parents and your institution has moulded them into such well mannered and selfless individuals."

Speaking to daijiworld, Fr Swebert D'Silva, principal of St Aloysius College said, "The motto of our college is 'To be men and women for others'. These young boys have done the same. We have a programme called 'Sahaya', wherein every student has to spend 20 hours in a year visiting orphanages and teaching them and engage in many more activities. The college has the responsibility of building better citizens for the country. The noble act by the three students will be recognised by the college. All these three students are part of All India Catholic Union Federation (AICUF)."

Mother Teresa, or St Teresa of Calcutta, once said, "We ourselves feel that what we are doing is just a drop in the ocean. But the ocean would be less because of that missing drop". Indeed, every deed of kindness can make this world a much better place, and the trio from St Aloysius College just proved it.
