605kW Rooftop Solar Power Plant installed at SAC Campus

St Aloysius Institutions marked a monumental achievement with the inauguration of a 605kW Rooftop Solar Power Plant spread across its four campuses. The blessing and inauguration of the 605kW Rooftop Solar Power Plant at St Aloysius College (Autonomous), Mangaluru, was held on 24th September 2021 at L.F. Rasquinha Hall of the College. Mr Sudesh Martis, Additional Chief Electrical Inspector, Department of Electrical Inspectorate, Govt of Karnataka was Chief Guest for the event. Rev. Fr Melwin J Pinto, SJ, Rector of St Aloysius Institutions presided over the programme and Mr Robin Rajesh from Isha Solar Energies was the Guest of Honour. Rev. Dr Praveen Martis, SJ, Principal, Dr Alwyn D'Sa, Registrar of the College, Mr Steevan Pinto, President, SACAA, Dr Vivek K, Technical Head of the project and Mr Rajan Menon were present on the dais. Dr Tom George, Associate Consultant for the project, briefed about the project with the aid of a virtual presentation.

This is the biggest solar power plant project built for an educational institution in Mangalore by ISHASOL Energies. The entire plant has been built in accordance with standard safety measures, occupational health considerations and environment regulations. ISHASOL Energies is a fully forward-integrated and comprehensive EPC solutions provider. It deploys world-class technology to design, install and commission benchmark solar projects countrywide.

- A total of 1300 highly efficient Mono perc silicon modules were used.
 - The 605 kW solar plant is spread across 2600 sq meters of rooftop area and built using PV modules that effectively reduce heat penetration through the metal sheets.
- Solar Edge inverter plus power optimizers which boast a maximum efficiency of 99.5 percent have been used for the structure. They are more efficient than normal string inverters as they avoid loss of power caused by individual panel shading or malfunctioning.

- Besides adding momentum to the green energy revolution in the country, the project is expected to bring immense monetary savings for the institution through a net metering arrangement with MESCOM. The entire plant has a SCADA enabled Remote Monitoring Facility to monitor all solar panels' operational data. Photovoltaic monitoring systems have been used for the same and provides real-time and recorded data, performance-based alerts, and web-based (or cellular) monitoring. Operations and Maintenance team at ISHASOL will provide all necessary maintenance services and manage onsite testing of instruments and equipment. The team at ISHASOL is led by Operations Head, Robin Rajesh. The inauguration event was compered by Ms Shilpa M DSouza. Rev. Dr Praveen Martis, SJ, welcomed the gathering and Dr Alwyn D'Sa proposed the vote of thanks.

'St Aloysius Prakashana' inaugurated at St Aloysius College

The inauguration of 'St Aloysius Prakashana', the publication unit of St Aloysius College (Autonomous), Mangaluru was held on 7th October, 2021 at Joseph Willy Hall, in Maffei Block of the College.

Dr Udaya Kumar, MA, Irvathur, HOD- Department of Commerce, University College was the Chief Guest for the event. Rev Fr Melwin Joseph Pinto, Rector of St Aloysius Institutions presided over the programme and gave the presidential remarks. Rev Dr Praveen Martis SJ Principal, Dr Alwyn D'Sa, Registrar, Dr Vidya Vinutha DSouza, Director of St Aloysius Prakashana, Dr Norbert Lobo, Director of Admin Block, Dr Sylvia Rego, Department of English, Rev. Fr Prashanth Madtha, SJ and Rev. Dr Rony Serrao, were present for the occasion.

The College has been contemplating on initiating a Publication Centre of its own for the last few years. After being awarded autonomy, the institution has gradually and steadily grown to augment teaching-intensive and research-intensive aspects significantly. Though the College has extant research publications, the need to enhance the quantity and quality of research publications necessitated the realisation of a publication centre. Now, St Aloysius Prakashana is the official unit of the College that will focus on publication of works related to literature, academics, recreational aspects, and research henceforth. The Centre is envisaged to publish not only articles and creative expressions of the staff and students but also research and literary works of individuals from the general public.

Scholarly articles, biographies, text books, apart from novels, anthologies of literary and research works on the coastal region will be given preference.

The Publication centre is open for original works in any language that inform and offer insights on the issues and concerns of the region.

St Aloysius Prakashana formally released four books authored by Rev. Fr Prashanth Madtha, Rev Fr Rony Serrao, Dr Sylvia Rego and Dr Norbert Lobo respectively during the inauguration. St Aloysius PODCAST covering the original work of authors was also inaugurated on the same venue by the dignitaries.

Manoj Dyson Fernandes, Department of BBA compered the programme. Rev. Dr Praveen Martis, SJ, welcomed the gathering. Dr Alwyn D'Sa gave the insights about the publishing unit, St Aloysius Prakashana. Dr Vidya Vinutha D'Souza proposed the vote of thanks.

Memorandum of Understanding

St Aloysius College (Autonomous), Mangaluru has signed a Memorandum of Understanding for cooperation with Poornaprajna Institute of Scientific Research (PPISR), Bengaluru on September 23, 2021. PPISR is a premier research institute, recognized by DSIR, Govt. of India, as an R&D center. Research at PPISR is pursued broadly under three divisions: Biological Sciences, Materials Sciences & Catalysis, Theoretical Sciences. It has successful industry partnership through innovation, designing and developing novel multifunctional materials that have wide-ranging applications in catalysis, nanotechnology. Etc.

The MoU was signed at the office of the Director of PPISR by the Principal of St Aloysius College Rev Dr Praveen Martis SJ and the Director of PPISR Dr. A. B. Halgeri, in the presence of Dr Alwyn D'Sa Registrar, and Dr Ronald Nazareth, Dean, International Collaboration, St Aloysius College Mangaluru.

The MoU would enable cooperation in academic, scientific and research endeavours with specific objectives of organizing student-exchange, faculty exchange, collaborative research for scholars and students at all levels, social outreach programs, exchange of online lectures, exchange of academic information, material and programs, development and implementation of joint research programs, including the development of proposals for funding purposes, joint conferences, workshops and training programs, and other cooperative activities.

Prior to signing of the MoU, a visit to all the laboratories of PPISR was arranged wherein the research team explained the functioning of all high end research equipment. Subsequently, a meeting was convened at the boardroom where the division head of Biological sciences Prof Udupi A. Ramagopal explained about research areas and progress of the biological science unit. He briefed on the facilities concerning Molecular Biology for cloning, recombinant expression, purification of proteins, characterization and crystallization of key biomolecules at ambient temperature and at 4°C available at the unit and also elaborated on the concepts such as microbial isolation, identification of microorganisms, biochemical studies like anti-microbial and anti-oxidant assay systems, plant and microbial secondary metabolites extraction systems etc.

In his presentation Prof Ganapati V. Shanbhag, Head of Material Science and catalysis division gave the overview of the research activities of the unit highlighting diverse backgrounds such as catalysis, industrial chemistry, polymer, nanomaterials etc. and progress of working on various thrust areas like heterogeneous catalysis, shape selective acid-base catalysis, novel micro/mesoporous materials for green chemical processes, biomass conversion to value-added products, catalytic CO₂ utilization by converting into useful chemicals, mesoporous polymers for catalysis and other applications, functional inorganic nanomaterials as applied to photoluminescence, hybrid nanomaterials, photocatalysis, gas sensing, H₂ generation solar cells, 2D materials for opto-electronics, metal-organic-frameworks.

The progress of theoretical sciences was explicated by Prof Sujit Sarkar wherein he highlighted the broad areas of research such as many-body and mesoscopic physics, nanoscience, quantum information theory, quantum communication, quantum cryptography, the foundations of quantum mechanics, astronomy and astrophysics.

National Webinar on "Western Ghats: Past, Present and Future"

28 October 2021 (10.30 a.m. to 12.30 p.m.)

Platform: Zoom

The Department of Political Science at St. Aloysius College (Autonomous) Mangaluru organised a national webinar titled, "Western Ghats: Past, Present and Future". The talk was delivered by Prof. (Dr) Madhav Dhananjaya Gadgil, Indian ecologist, academic, writer, columnist and the founder of the Centre for Ecological Sciences, former member of the Scientific Advisory Council to the Prime Minister of India and the Head of the Western Ghats Ecology Expert Panel (WGEEP) of 2010 (Gadgil Commission). He is the recipient of the Padma

Shri (1981) and the Padma Bhushan (2006).

Prof Gadgil postured the theme through its historical past that gives lead to the present plight of the Western Ghats. He highlighted the sustainable nature of Indian communities before the advent of the British in India which he exemplified with the works Goan "gaonkaris", Adivasis, etc. However, the British took over village community lands using the device of the Forest Department (FD) in the name of conservation. Hence, most of the influence on India's wildlife policy and Wildlife Act comes from the colonial institutions such as Bombay Natural History Society (BNHS). Milestones of development that took place since India's independence in the form of dams and reservoirs were ironically referred to as 'temples' of modern India. In fact, they devastated not only the wilderness and forests but also a large number of marginalised people without due compensation. Here development has not gone in sync with the interests and wants of the native communities.

Prof Gadgil gave an example of the communities residing in Mangaon who have protected the sacred groves in the Velhe taluka of Pune. These communities have understood the ecosystem services of the grove and have taken the sole responsibility of protecting it instead of relying on third parties. Through the West Coast Paper Mills of Dandeli, he explained the consequences of state misappropriation and misuse of bamboo resources especially on river Kali. Through the unreported case of the Bharatpur National Park he pointed to the need for community based eco system living. Hence through these examples he proved the fact that the Forest Department and the Wildlife Protection Act have been unable to protect and their activities have been counterproductive to these ecosystems.

Through the talk, Prof Gadgil highlighted the role of people's participation, the need for ecosystem community living, the destruction that is wrecked on areas of Maharashtra and Kerala. He cautioned that with the destruction of the ecosystems as found in the Western Ghats, probably many villagers will turn into migrant labourers or construction workers whose lives will be more uncertain.

Rev Fr Leo D'Souza SJ in his comments to the talk appreciated and admired the fact that Prof Gadgil's work emanates from field experience. The latter's focus on the destruction of the Western Ghats beginning with the advent of the British cannot be the sole reason. Rather he questioned as to "what we are doing" in the present; policies of our governments are no different.

The session was moderated by Dr Smitha Hegde, Plant Biotechnologist, an expert in ferns of the Western Ghats, Professor & Deputy Director at NITTE University, Center for Science Education & Research. She most articulately summarised the talk and conducted the Q&A session.

The Western Ghats is a global biodiversity hotspot whose soil and water sustains the livelihoods of millions of people. The Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) of the UN proposes the protection of such regions for ecological balance, which is the need of the hour. The department of Political Science, St Aloysius College (Autonomous) Mangaluru attempted to highlight these issues through the webinar.

The webinar began with an invocation by Fr Marcel Rodrigues SJ, HOD Journalism and his team. Dr Rose Veera Dsouza Dean of Faculty of Arts and HOD Political Science welcomed the gathering and introduced the distinguished guests. The webinar concluded with a vote of thanks by Dr. Joyce Sabina Lobo.

Laughter is the best therapy that heals people when they suffer from stress or tension. Laughing at least once every day loudly will make us a happier person and will also fill us with energy and excitement. Sometimes laughter is the only thing that we require for healing ourselves from the negativity around us.

To provide a platform for laughter, St Aloysius Ranga Adhyayana Kendra, in association with UGC STRIDE Project, organised 'NAGE RANGA' – A Humour programme recently in the L F Rasquinha Hall of LCRI Block. The audience was a mix of St Aloysius College management, staff, faculty and students. The two-hour-long extravaganza of humorous speech and comic skits, transported viewers into the world of laughter, filled with fun and frolic, added with a couple of soothing songs by Prathiksha Bhat of NITK Surathkal, and Jeevan Siddi, a St Aloysius College student.

The programme began with a humorous speech by Smt Sandhya Shenoy from Udupi who is one and the only female professional Humour entertainer of GSB Samaj. So far she has given over 1200 programs in different places in India and abroad. She entertained the audience with her witty punch lines, which led to a roar of laughter in the auditorium.

Sandhya Shenoy's shows have also been conducted at Akhila Bharatha Sahitya Sammelana Udupi; District Level Sahithya Sammelana; Taluk Level Sahithya Sammelana; State Level Konkani Sahitya Sammelana

Kundapur; Gadinada Kannada Sahithya Sammelana-Kasaragod; Children Sahithya Sammelana, among others. Added to this, teacher and student group of various schools and colleges, institutions including Lion's, Rotary, Jaycee Clubs have arranged programmes and has entertained them with her witty performances. She has 13 awards from various institutions/organizations to her credit.

After the Stand Up Comedy by Mrs Sandhya Shenoy, the troupe "Maskiri Kudla of Majabharatha & Bale Telipaale" fame, consisting of Deepak Rai Panaje, Prakash Tuminadu, JP Tuminadu and Rajesh Muguli gave hilarious performances, which made the audience roar with laughter.

St Aloysius College Principal, Dr Praveen Martis SJ, congratulated the organisers and, the performers and said, "It is indeed a delightful sight to witness students attending the event and listening to their laughter. Humour speaker, Mrs Sandhya Shenoy has really enthralled all of us with her interesting anecdotes and humorous punches and Maskiri Kudla Team has brought us out of the drudgery of the pandemic."

Registrar, Dr Alwyn D'Sa said, "This has been a unique and special experience. The unconditional and open-minded response by all the audience, especially the students has made us extremely happy. I would like to thank all the organizers and artistes involved in making us forget everything and have fun".

The programme was compered by Kush Acharya, a B.Com. student of St Aloysius College.

New Academic year commences for II MBA Students

The new academic year for the second year MBA students commenced on a prayerful note on Monday, September 6, 2021.

After invoking the blessings of the Almighty and thanking God for the past year, Dr Dhananjaya K, Dean (Academics), Management, urged the students to stay focused and continue to beat all odds as they have done in the past.

Dr (Fr) Melwyn Pinto SJ, Director, in his message to the students stated that for some it might be their last academic year as they may not take up studies further, and hence insisted that they make the best of the facilities offered by the college and prepare themselves to face the challenges of the uncertain tomorrow.

Online classes for the second year MBA students commenced, shortly after the programme.

Cleaning/Restoring Tagore Park

Tagore Park is one of the most prominent parks situated in Mangalore, near the city centre mall and adjacent to St Aloysius College. It contains a lighthouse, with a height of 33 feet built in the year 1900. The Park is named after the Bengali poet, Rabindranath Tagore. The Park contains beautiful plants, statues, and views that overlook the scenic Mangalorean coast.

The NCC AIR WING cadets of St Aloysius College (Autonomous), Mangaluru, 6 Kar Air Squadron NCC, under the Social Service and Community Development (SSCD) activities took up the duty to clean this beautiful park which was in bad shape due to the ongoing pandemic. The cleanliness drive was conducted between 7:30 am to 9am on 21st of September, 2021. A total of 59 cadets took up this activity under the supervision of NCC AIR WING ANO, and Flying Officer Alwyn Stephen Misquith.

The greasy statues were polished and cleaned by the hard-working cadets. All kinds of litter and waste picked up from the pedestrian path. The hard work and dedication of the cadets changed the overall outlook of the park. The cleanliness drive concluded with a march held from the park to St. Aloysius College Autonomous with the cadets holding banners and placards with slogans, spreading awareness about keeping our country clean and green.

The Principal of the College, Rev. Dr Praveen Martis, SJ and the Commanding Officer of 6 Kar Air Squadron, Wing Commander Chandan Garg congratulated and appreciated the efforts of the cadets, and praised the successful planning and execution of the cleanliness drive.

Report on Planning and Preparation for ACCA Exams: Sharing from Seniors

A session on Planning and Preparation for ACCA Exams: Sharing from Seniors was held on 29th of October 2021 at 5 pm through Google meet where our seniors shared views to us and provided us with insights and guidance on how to tackle an ACCA exams. The program was hosted by Ms. Pooja, Coordinator, ACCA. And around 50 students attended the meeting.

The resource persons for the program were Meghana Bhat, Daren Naren Miranda, Aditya Kamath, Krithika Poojary and Sahl Abdul Rafeeque.

Meghana Bhat gave a detailed session on various techniques to study Financial Reporting. It includes tips like

- Prepare notes on topics
- Study the concepts well
- When doing exam kit sums read the answer first and then try to attempt questions
- Read and understand how to present the questions of Section D
- Attempt at least 1 or 2 mock test

Daren Naren Miranda gave a session on remote sessions. He gave us the points that we need to keep in mind while attempting remote based exams. Few of the points were;

- Login half an hour before commencement of the exam and complete the initial check-in process.
- Should have a stable network facility. WIFI is preferred. Mobile hotspots are not preferable, but Dongles may be used to improve network speed.
- Scratch pads are not allowed.
- Use the chat facility as and when needed.

Mobile phones should be kept in a one arm distance. Clear water bottles are only allowed.

Krithika Poojary, Sahl Abdul Rafeeque and Aditya Kamath covered general preparation techniques. Few of the points are;

- Spend a week on study text, 2-3 weeks on exam kit and a week on mock test.
- Ensure to read the examiners comments so as to be aware of what the examiner expects in an answer.
- Do not attempt exams because everyone else is doing.
- Practice model papers in the website.
- Do not strive to just pass the paper, rather aim to thoroughly understand the concepts.

Listening to this talk was for sure a productive endeavour. It really helped students to prepare better for exams.
